Zendesk Product Design Career Paths (Individual Contributor)

Title

Product Design Assistant

Associate Product Designer

Product Designer

Senior Product Designer

Lead Product Designer

Principle Product Designer

Distinguished Product Designer

VP, Product Design

SVP, Product Design

CPO

Hiring junior to mid-level designers and designers and working with them to build their skills and responsibilities. They are involved in a variety of projects, including user research, design thinking, and prototyping.

Learn to use data to gain understanding of user needs and behavior. They work closely with product managers and stakeholders to ensure that designs are aligned with business objectives. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn about product evolution and how to plan, execute, and measure design projects. They work closely with designers, product managers, and stakeholders to ensure that designs are aligned with business objectives. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.

Learn how to work with cross-functional teams and drive projects to completion. They are comfortable with sketching, flows, and Wireframes and understand user research techniques and user interviews.